TELECOMMUNICATIONS

THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS INDUSTRY IS BOTH HEAVILY REGULATED AND RAPIDLY FLUCTUATING, DUE TO THE TREMENDOUS ADVANCES AND CHANGES ARISING IN THE UNDERLYING TECHNOLOGIES. Drawing on attorneys from several DeCotiis practice groups, our lawyers can provide invaluable perspectives, insight and counsel for telecom and telecom-related clients.

Whether the issue is the underlying infrastructure, rate and service issues, regulation or transactions, our lawyers can help. We have significant experience in dealing with both state and Federal administrative bodies charged with oversight of the marketplace. We also are a leading authority on governmental affairs at all levels, particularly municipalities, and have provided counsel to numerous telecommunications clients. Most recently, a DeCotiis partner acted as counsel to a Federal court in a major FCC enforcement action.

And, of course, should the issue be based in more routine matters of contract, liability, or any form of dispute resolution, our counsel and strategies can help clients deal with the day-to-day legal challenges that are inherent in this fast-moving industry.
