

TRACY U. AZINGE

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Tracy Azinge joined Decotiis as an associate in 2018. Ms. Azinge practices in the Labor and Employment Group.

Ms. Azinge is a graduate of Seton Hall Law School. In law school, Ms. Azinge gained substantial experience as a legal intern at a number of firms, in-house, and was a Student Advocate of Seton Hall's Civil Litigation clinic. As a participant of Seton Hall's Civil Litigation Clinic, Ms. Azinge had the opportunity to represent clients in the context of housing related matters and draft legislation for a Uniform Housing Bill. During law school, Ms. Azinge also participated in the NJLEEP Program as a Mock Trial coach. Ms. Azinge served as a Law Clerk to the Honorable Claude M. Coleman in the Superior Court of New Jersey, County of Essex in the Family Division.

Prior to joining the firm, Ms. Azinge practiced at a boutique firm for three years where she gained experience in a wide array of litigation areas that include employment, legal malpractice, consumer fraud, construction defects, and insurance in both state and federal courts. Ms. Azinge has also worked with the Northeast New Jersey Legal Services as Pro Bono counsel representing clients seeking to obtain expungements.
